

THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA AT CHAPEL HILL'S

Kenan-Flagler Business School

UNC's Kenan-Flagler Business School offers two MBA concentrations to prepare students for successful finance careers: Corporate Finance and Investment Management. In addition to a world-class faculty with deep professional experience, these concentrations also rely on advisory boards made up of leading industry professionals to ensure that the curriculum keeps pace with changing industry practice. Students also gain real world experience through Kenan-Flagler's Capital Markets Lab, stock-pitch competitions, and the $2 million student-run Global Perspectives Fund.

“What’s probably helped me most in my career that I got from being at UNC Kenan-Flagler in particular was a validation of what I really wanted to do and what I was passionate about from the drill-down courses that we had. I found that the deeper I dug into the finance curriculum, the more I liked it.”

— Brent Callinicos (MBA '89), VP & Treasurer, Google

CORPORATE FINANCE

- Concentration teaches core skills in financial modeling, debt and equity issues, valuation, mergers and acquisitions, financial planning, risk management, and financial reporting and analysis.
- Student employment at investment banks, commercial banks, financial consultation and general management consultation, venture capital and private equity firms, and corporate finance and finance rotational programs in Fortune 500 companies.

INVESTMENT MANAGEMENT

- Concentration teaches both buy and sell sides of securities markets through rigorous theoretical and applied components.
- Student employment at security analysis, portfolio management, capital markets, sales and trading, and private wealth management.

STUDENTS GAIN ADDITIONAL PREPARATION FROM:

- Bloomberg
- Training the Street
- Factset
- Financial Training Partners
